

A close-up photograph of a classic British fish and chips meal. The main focus is a large, golden-brown, crispy fish fillet resting on a bed of thick-cut, golden-brown potato chips. The meal is served on a light blue ceramic plate. In the background, two small white ceramic bowls contain dipping sauces: one with a white sauce, likely tartar sauce, and another with a vibrant green sauce, possibly mushy peas. A slice of lemon is also visible on the plate. The setting is a rustic wooden table with a green napkin and a silver fork partially visible in the bottom right corner.
